In mathematics, a recurrence relation is an equation that recursively defines a sequence or multidimensional array of values, once one or more initial terms are given: each further term of the sequence or array is defined as a function of the preceding terms.. The term difference equation sometimes (and for the purposes of this article) refers to a specific type of recurrence relation.

Second normal form (2NF) is a normal form used in database normalization. 2NF was originally defined by E.F. Codd in 1971.. To qualify for second normal form a relation must: (1) be in first normal form (1NF) (2) not have any non-prime attribute that is dependent on any proper subset of any candidate key of the relation. A non-prime attribute of a relation is an attribute that is not a part of ...
